This medicine combines iron with pure vegetable tonics, and is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It Enriches and Purifies the Blood, Stimulates the Appetite, Strengthens the Muscles and Nerves, and is a valuable Remedy for Colds, Cures the complexion, and makes the skin smooth. "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters, and it has been more than a doctor to me, having cured me of the weakness ladies have in life. Also cured my Liver Complaint, and I am now in full strength again. Has also been beneficial to my children."

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 7, 1887.

A CORRESPONDENT writes that $150,000 have been taken out of Mercer County the past year and invested in distant places.

The "fire fiend" seems bent on wiping out Nicholasville. Since the 27th of last December, $100,000 worth of property is said to have been destroyed.

KENTUCKY's distinguished Senator, James B. Beck, will have the sympathy of all in the loss of his wife, whose death occurred last evening at Washington City, after a brief illness.

THE Fleming Republicans want Col. Billie O. Bradley for Governor, and have instructed for him. It seems the Republicans of the State have gulped down at one swallow Bradley's little pill of "an unanimous nomination will give the party great strength." Well, his party is in need of great strength, both in Kentucky and elsewhere.

A PROMINENT citizen says there are animals beaten about unmercifully in this city almost every day, and that horses are often seen in carts, wagons, drays and other vehicles when they are in no condition for such work. He is ready to give twenty-five dollars towards the organization of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals so that the cruel treatment may be broken up. The move is a good one and should be carried out. The S. P. C. A. has done good work elsewhere. A party who is cruel to the dumb creatures under his control deserves the severest punishment the law provides.

Of Interest to Knights of Labor.
A recent cable from Rome says: "Cardinal Gibbons has placed before the Vatican a formal statement as to the nature of Knights of Labor organization of America, and the attitude the church should adopt toward it. The Cardinal says he considers any condemnation of the Knights to be not only useless, but highly inopportune, and might alienate the sympathy of the American laboring classes from the church, and hamper the mission of the church to the laboring poor. The organization is not a secret society in the sense condemned by the church, and consequently exempt from canonical censure."

Cardinal Gibbons further says he considers the organization of the Knights of Labor in the United States not only harmless, but possibly will be beneficial in assisting in the eventful settlement of the great question of the proper relations between labor and capital. He treats the alarmist theories respecting the Knights of Labor as puerile, and says nearly one-third of the men belonging to the organization are Roman Catholics."

Fine Opportunity for Paying Investment.

I have the option of purchasing a very fine body of land, lying on the Sonora river, in the valley of Sonora, Mexico, near the Southern boundary of the United States. One of the tracts contains about 40,000 acres, the other probably 100,000 acres, the title to both being perfect. The land borders upon the headwaters of Sonora river, a distance of nine or ten miles, has a never failing supply of water, is in a most delightful, healthy climate, and is adjacent to a Mexican town. It is admirably adapted to the purpose of cattle raising and agriculture, the soil being rich and productive. By American enterprise, which is rapidly going into that section, cattle raising is coming into prominence. The range for cattle on this land is very large, extending from mountain to mountain, a distance of probably twenty miles. The climate is so mild and grass so abundant that cattle graze the year round, with no attending expense of feeding or sheltering them at any time. Of the 40,000 acre tract, about 160 acres are under fence and has produced 40 bushels of wheat per acre, though only plowed with a sharpened block of wood. The larger tract is of itself a principality, and has about 500 acres under fence, with three houses and good corrals upon it, and has about one hundred and fifty head of cattle that go with it; and all the land and cattle are by law exempt from taxation. It will not require a long time for these cattle to grow into a large and valuable herd, and the land, in my opinion, will increase in value, as it is in the midst of an exceedingly rich, silver and gold mining region which is attracting many Americans, as well as English capitalists, who are investing there. Two railroads are running out of the United States into Northern Mexico, at a distance of about 80 miles on either side of the Sonora Valley, and I believe that in the very near future another railroad will be built down said valley over or near this land. I have been upon this land myself, and interviewed the owner of one of the tracts as to a sale of it.

For ten cents per acre, I can purchase the land, which will pay for the land and all expense connected with the transfer of title, and stock it with cattle. I am desirous of forming a company to take hold of it as soon as possible. At the price above mentioned, one hundred dollars will obtain an interest equal to one thousand acres, besides an interest in the cattle and products of the land. I will be pleased to furnish all information.

GEO. W. SULSER, Court street.

Why He Prefers Mules to Horses.

A well known manufacturer of this city—It isn't necessary to give his name—finds it necessary to employ a double team to do his hauling. For several years he kept two horses, and while they did their work well he suddenly concluded to dispose of them and buy a pair of mules instead. He says that after the horses had done their day's or week's work he was continually annoyed by some of his friends or employees asking for the use of the horses to take pleasure drives. Not caring to offend them he frequently acceded to their requests, while all the time his better judgment told him that it was rough on the horses, which by their honest work were entitled to their just rest. This thing went on for a while, and our friend was pondering by day and by night how he could bring about a change. It occurred to him one day that mules were not very popular for pleasure driving purposes, but that they answered every other purpose of horses—in fact, were in several respects preferable for his own use. So he concluded to sell his horses and get a mule team. His plan worked admirably, and the other day he informed us that since he got the mules he hasn't been asked once for their use by his friends or employees.—Allen-town (Pa.) Register.

Kicked by the Cow.

I turned the cows out, and as old Bess was a little slow in going I just caught her by the tail and gave her a switch with it to hurry her up a little. I've been feeling old Bess off and on for five years, and I thought that she honored me and respected me, but suddenly, in the twinkling of an eye and with malice aforethought, she raised her hind leg and let fly at me with all her might. She hit me on the shinbone, and you might have heard the collision for fifty yards. It hurt so bad I let go her tail prematurely and hollered. I was a cowardly act of hers, but nevertheless I shall ever hereafter let those cows' tails alone. I thought from the report that the bone was broken, and I took on powerful and let Carl help me all the way to the house, but when I examined I found the bone all right and only the epidermic cuticle abraded. I've lost confidence in cows. They have no gratitude and no emotions of an exalted character. They are not fit for pets. A horse belongs to the nobility, but a cow is a scrub. She has about as much affection as a mule. She is a machine to manufacture milk, and that is all.

Nevertheless, I never like to sell my cattle to the butcher. I never kill one for my own use, and I never want to eat a beefsteak which comes from one of my own raising.—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

Where Gambetta Died.

Gambetta's house, at Ville d'Avray, which lately has been visited by so many devoted republicans on the anniversary of his death, is still a shabby, mean little place, though now almost a public monument, and owning its own special garden. It is as bare inside as outside. In the hall are a chair and a table, where the visitors write their names on a sheet of paper. A poor staircase leads to the room where Gambetta died, which has been kept unchanged ever since. Two tables, a chest of drawers and a bed form all the furniture, but the walls are hidden by wreaths, crowns and memorial marble tablets, which have overflowed onto the staircase outside. Cards and bouquets cover the tables, and flowers are showered on the bed.—Home Journal.

There's No Limit to It.

To what length will the Russian censorship of the press go next? In a novel recently submitted to the censor, the author, in describing the tent of one of the grand dukes during the war with Turkey, mentioned as one of its ornaments "the portrait of a certain actress." This phrase was altered in the proof sheet to "large map of the theater of war," and on the author objecting that his description was "historical," he was coolly told that "in Russia nothing is historical except what appears in the official journals"—Exchange.

Herosim Rewarded.

HARWICH, Mass., March 7.—On December 6, 1885, the schooner Grecian during a heavy storm came ashore about one mile south of Chatham Flights and the crew with much difficulty were saved. Congress has presented a solid silver medal to George W. Bloomer for his assistance in rescuing five persons from the wreck.

The Infant's Inheritance.

It is no new assertion this, that we are the result of our inherited virtues and sins, plus our circumstances. We cannot stand alone, we cannot affect to ignore those from whom we have derived our origin, since they have placed upon our brow the ineffaceable seal of their own characters. Take the new born babe, lying so helpless, apparently so unconscious, in its mother's arms. Surely its mind is blank and unstained; surely upon it its parents may write whatsoever they will. How mistaken the supposition! Behind the closed lids burn the fires of untold generations, weaknesses and strength never before suspected, lying dormant for a generation perhaps, ure to find their full development in this nite of humanity.

Fifty years ago a sweet-faced woman had strange, fleeting visions of beauty; they flitted across the horizon of her mental conception and were gone. There was within her neither power of concentration nor of execution. Now, fifty years after, within this brain, yet lying fallow, the visions are stored, and in time those little fingers beating the air in impotent anger shall unfold to the world beauties hitherto seen only in dreams. His will be the power of expression, but the first dawns of his keen perception of the beautiful and of his longings after its embodiment had their risings in another soul, and were transmitted to him, combining therewith elements transmitted from other sources, until that combination was reached which gave to him the power to concentrate these images and to express them.—Julia A. Fisch in The Current.

Taking Dispatches by Typewriter.

"The system of taking dispatches by the typewriting machine," said an old telegrapher yesterday, "is proving a great success. By the new process the capacity of a wire is increased 25 per cent., thus enabling the company to perform greater feats of telegraphing than ever before. It takes some time for the operator to learn how to manipulate the machine with sufficient speed to keep pace with a good 'sender,' but when he once masters the thing he can perform 25 per cent. more work than he can with pen or stylus, and perform it, too, with far less exertion and mental strain. So expert have some of the operators become that a great deal of press matter is sent in abbreviated form for no other reason than that the sender cannot 'whoop' the stuff through fast enough by the old process to keep the receiver at his knitting. There isn't a sender living who can 'put it up the back' of the expert typewriter artist."—Chicago Herald.

Quile Miraculous, Indeed.

"That prescription you gave me last week, doctor," said Crocus, "is a medical miracle." "I know it, sir," said the doctor, proudly, "I've been using it for ten years and never killed a patient yet." And afterward he thinks that somehow this wasn't exactly what he intended to say.—Burdette.

A Wife's Consolation.

Disheartened young clergyman to his wife, on returning from service—That was the worst sermon I ever preached. I don't know what I shall do. "Oh, no, dear," replied his wife, tenderly, "I have heard you preach worse than that many a time."—Chicago Living Church.

Hung by a Mob.

SAN MARCOS, Tex., March 7.—Tuesday last, Trin Blocker, colored, attempted a criminal assault upon Mrs. Patterson, a highly respectable lady, and was lodged in the jail here. Early this morning an armed mob of over 200 men went to the jail and compelled the janitor to give up the keys to them. They then dragged Blocker from his cell, and hanged him to a tree.

Accident or Attempted Suicide.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 7.—A. W. Bunson, of this city, a prominent real estate agent, while crossing the bridge over the Colorado river yesterday evening either fell or jumped from his carriage to the river below, a distance of forty feet and was picked up in an unconscious state. Opinions differ as to whether it was an accident or an attempted suicide. Mr. Bunson's injuries are thought to be fatal.

Sensation Among Presbyterians.

SALEM, Ill., March 7.—Rev. D. Depenbrock, a Cumberland Presbyterian minister, has been arrested and placed under bond on an indictment charging him with fraud and misrepresentation in obtaining a renewal of insurance policies in the Rockford Insurance company, of Rockford, Ill. It has created a sensation in the community, where he has been laboring for many years past.

Killen-McDonald Fight.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 7.—About three hundred people saw the Killen-McDonald fight at Washington Rink. Killen knocked McDonald out in the first round. A few body blows were exchanged, when Killen landed an upper cut, knocking McDonald down. Hearse before time was called, and Killen hit him again under the jugular, knocking him completely out.

A Convict's Rights.

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—The state supreme court has decided that a convict can not be taken from the penitentiary to testify in a court, but that his testimony may be taken in the form of a deposition. This will prevent the attorneys of Messenger Fotheringham from bringing Jim Cummings alias Fred Wittrock, to testify personally in his behalf.

A New Law in Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 7.—The house today passed without debate and with slight amendments, a fortnightly payment bill. It will receive one or two slight amendments in the senate in respects to its application.

MONTREAL, March 7.—About a year ago, an attempt was made to deprecate the Canadian Pacific securities by sending out damaging reports from Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto simultaneously. The detectives have been on the lookout ever since, and just discovered a new conspiracy with a similar object. It is understood that a number of prominent Canadians are implicated and that some surprising arrests are to be made.

"No Physic, Sir, Mine!"

A good story comes from a boy's boarding-school in "Jersey." The diet was monotonous and constipating, and the learned Principal decided to introduce some old-style physic in the apple-sauce, and await the results. One bright lad, the smartest in school, discovered the secret mine in his sauce, and pushing back his plate, shouted to the pedagogue, "No physic, sir, in mine." My dad told me to use nuthin' but Dr. Pierce's 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets,' and they are doing their duty like a charm! They are anti-bilious, and purely vegetable.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY JAMES H.
SALLIE returned yesterday from Greenup, where he had been the past week attending Circuit Court. The criminal docket has all be disposed of. There were seven or eight convictions and fines for misdemeanors. The most important criminal case tried was that of James Moore, charged with killing Robt. Story, December 25, 1885. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at six years in the penitentiary.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

MARY LOUISA CRAIG ACCUSED OF INFANTICIDE—HER SAD STORY.

The dead body of a white female infant was found one day last week in the neighborhood of Fairview, Fleming Co.
Fairview lies near the Mason County line, between Sardis and Mayslick. Dogs were devouring the remains when discovered. An inquest was held, the Coroner's jury finding that the infant had come to its death from some cause unknown to them.

Last Saturday a warrant was issued, charging Mary Louisa Craig with the crime. It was placed in the hands of William Bland, Constable of Sardis precinct, who arrested the accused and brought her to this city, where she was placed in jail to await her examining trial, which is set for to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

A BULLETIN representative, in company with County Attorney C. D.
Newell, saw her at the jail yesterday.
She talked very glibly, showing but little hesitation in giving her story.

"I was born," said she, "in Wayne County, Ind. I am twenty-eight years of age, and have lived in this State for about twenty-one years. Most of my kinsfolk live in the vicinity of Mt. Olivet.
My parents' home, now, is at Powers-ville, Bracken County, but I understand they are out in Indiana, at present, on a visit. I am not married. I have one child, though, five years of age, whom my father and mother are raising."

"Where have you lived lately?"
With a family between Mayslick and Sardis. I have lived with them since last blackberry time. Before that I lived with a family out near Fern Leaf. About this charge against me, I didn't know anything about it until Saturday morning when the officer came and arrested me. I told the officer I was willing to come along with him. I want a trial tomorrow if I can get one. I'm not guilty.
The child was found about three miles away from where I live, and I haven't been away from home for several weeks.
I'm a member of church, and whenever I've gone to preaching the little children where I live, who are ten or twelve years of age, have always gone with me."

"Were you ever before charged with a crime of this kind?"

"Yes, about three years ago, out near Mt. Olivet. I was not guilty, though.
I was tried in the Circuit or Criminal Court at that place, and the jury acquitted me."

The above is not the exact language used by Miss Craig, but it is the substance of her story. She did not seem much concerned about her condition, and was confident of being released whenever her examining trial came off. The charge will be investigated before Judge Coons to-morrow, as stated above.

A Great Actress.

Mlle Rhea, one of the most distinguished artistes who has ever visited this country, will give her first and perhaps her only performance in this place on Wednesday evening, March 9th. Her manager is at considerable expense in bringing this attraction here, and it is to be hoped that theatre-goers will appreciate his efforts in their behalf. Mlle Rhea certainly ought to, and undoubtedly will, draw a crowded house. The entire Southern press is most enthusiastic over the lady's performances, and she has been playing to a succession of crowded houses, while people of the most noted social position have lavished elegant entertainments of every description on her.

She will be seen here in one of the great successes of her extensive repertoire, a magnificent comedy entitled, "The Widow," which was played in Paris for four hundred consecutive nights. It may be interesting to the ladies to mention the fact that Mlle Rhea is regarded as one of the most elaborate dressers on the stage. Some idea of the extent of her wardrobe may be had when it is known that she carries no less than seventy-five Parisian dresses. Those to be worn in "The Widow" consist of four superb toilets, made especially for this play by Worth, the famous man dressmaker, of Paris.

Behind the Bars.

A visit to the county jail yesterday found nine prisoners "behind the bars." Some are awaiting trial, and the rest have already had their trial and are serving out the sentence of the court. There are four whites and five negroes. Mary Louisa Craig is the only female in the lot. As will be seen elsewhere, she is awaiting trial on the charge of infanticide.

John S. Thompson is awaiting trial for obtaining money under false pretenses.
His home is in Boyd County. He sold a pair of mules to James & Wells, and W.
H. Ambrose a few months ago, that belonged to a party in Vanceburg. His trial at the last term of court resulted in a hung jury. He was busy writing a letter yesterday when the BULLETIN scribe approached him, and said he was confident he would soon be released. Thompson has a family in Boyd.

William Workman is here for safekeeping. He is wanted at Mt. Olivet, charged with taking part in a tragedy near there last fall, in which a man named Sparks, one of the prominent citizens of Robertson County, was assassinated.

Workman would say but little, and replied to but few questions. He received a load of shot in the face and head the night of the tragedy, and has lost one of his eyes from the wounds.
His trial will come up at Mt. Olivet before long.

W. H. Roden is a middle-aged white man. He was sent in by Police Judge Howard, of Mayslick, to serve out a judgment of $30 and ten days imprisonment.

Mart Edwards is the other white prisoner. His home is here in town. He pleaded guilty to petit larceny at the last Circuit Court and was sentenced to sixty days imprisonment. He was in jail about twenty days before his trial came up, and he thinks eighty days a little too long for taking a few pieces of clothing that were almost worthless. He thought the court was too hard on him, but said he would know who his friends were hereafter, and that this would teach him a lesson.

Doc Small and Frank Bell, both colored, hail from Mayslick. Small is serving a sentence for carrying concealed a deadly weapon, and Bell pleaded guilty before Judge Coons last week, to petit larceny—taking a turkey—and was given thirty days in jail.

Peter Jones, a young colored man, let his fondness for turkey lead him astray not long ago. He was caught and was sent up for thirty days.

Henry Williams, colored, is awaiting trial for cutting Hord Loughridge with intent to kill, at a dance on the Fleming pike several weeks ago.

REV. E. L. POWELL expects to leave next Saturday to assist Dr. Hobbs, of Louisville, in a protracted meeting at that place.

CAPTAIN J. W. SHOWALTER, formerly of the Dover neighborhood, and Miss Nellie L. Marshall were married at Donnerail, Fayette County, last week. The groom is a son of Benoni Showalter, and is a graduate of Kentucky Military Institute.

MRS. DAVID WILSON, of North Middletown, attempted to commit suicide last night by shooting herself in the left breast. The ball entered near the heart, and inflicted a wound that is very dangerous,

We stated some time ago that a gate had been patented by Mr. John B. Holton, of Washington. The Scientific American says: "The main feature of this improvement consists in a right-angular hinge rod, in connection with a special construction and combination of parts whereby the gate is braced, adjusted for taking up sag, and attached to the pivot post, the invention pertaining especially to farm gates."

A TELEGRAM received here yesterday, by his relatives, announced the death of Michael McCormick, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. H. Wolfe, in Georgetown, Ky. Mr. McCormick had been engaged in the merchant tailoring business at that place for some time. Although a sufferer from Bright's Disease for the past year, he had enjoyed his usual health until Thursday evening last, when he was paralytic while at work in his store. The disease had made such headway that he never rallied from this last stroke. He was about sixty-three years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children—three daughters, all married, and four sons—to mourn his loss. He was a member of Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society, Joseph Heiser Post,

TROUBLES OF STRIKERS.

THE STRIKE ON THE SAN FRANCISCO CABLE ROAD DECLARED OFF.

A Quarrel Among the Strikers Over a "Secret Fund" is What Caused the Failure.

Coke Workers Quit Work—Miners Out in Nova Scotia—Other Labor News.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—The strike on the cable roads, which has been going on for several months, has ended. Last week there was a big benefit performance to aid the strikers, which netted several thousand dollars. Shortly after the strike began the strikers commenced running a line of omnibuses to compete with the cable roads. They did not pay and have accumulated a couple of thousand dollars of debts. The managers of this time thought that the money raised at the benefits should be given to them, while the old employees of the cable lines, who have been idle so long, thought it ought to be divided among them. On this question a quarrel arose, and the strike has been declared ended; but there were other reasons which hastened the end.

Large sums of money have been put into a so-called "secret fund" concerning the disposition of which nothing was made public. It is openly said now that this fund was used for the purchase of dynamite. The arrest of the two dynamiters a couple of weeks ago was practically the end of the strike. There have been no more explosions since then, and though the strikers deny complicity with the use of dynamite, there can be no question that the action of the police in ferreting out the two dynamiters was a death blow to the strike. The men who took the strikers' places on the roads are being paid the wages which were demanded by the strikers when they went out.

Coke Workers Quit Work.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 7.—Five hundred coke workers, employed at the Jintown and Sterling works of J. M. Schoonmaker & Co., on the Hickman Run branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railway, have gone out on a strike. Several days ago the firm temporarily suspended two carpenters not having present need of their services. James Dumphry, an official in the Miners and Laborers' Amalgamated association, hearing of the suspension of the carpenters ordered the men to quit work. No notification was given to the firm, no demand made and the strikers refuse to listen to the firm's explanation. Six hundred and seventy-five tons of coke are burning in the ovens and will be a total loss. There is no indication of the men returning to work. Several large furnaces in this city received their supply of coke from the Jintown and Sterling works. Should the strike continue for a few days these blast furnaces will have to be banked. In that event over 2,000 men will be thrown out of employment.

N. Y., P. & O. Brakemen Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—The strike on the Mahoning division of the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad promises to assume more serious aspect than was at first thought probable. Although the yardmen are the only ones directly interested, the suspension of their work throws everyone along the line out of work, and only those engaged in the passenger traffic are presenting doing anything.

To-day the yards in this city are crowded with cars and locomotives all at a stand-still and this is the case all along the line between here and Youngstown. The strikers do not allow the locomotives of other corporations to run over the N. Y., P. & O. tracks and many manufacturers are already suffering for want of coal, because of their inability to haul their coal cars off the main tracks. Switchmen, roundmen and conductors are backing the strikers.

Labor Parade.

BOSTON, March 7.—A tremendous crowd of sight-seers and a small procession is an adequate description of the celebration in honor of the ex-employees of the Cambridge railroad. Three local assemblies, represented by 700 men and a band, were in line. Occasional pyrotechnic displays were made along the route. There was no disturbance, directly connected with the parade. At 11:30 a new driver of a South Boston car got upon the wrong track in Washington street, and his car was run into and smashed by a Metropolitan car. The crowd jeered the driver, but helped him out of his difficulty.

The Lonsoremen's assembly and the freight handlers met and resolved not to use the Cambridge and South Boston cars until the strikes were settled.

The Coal Strike in Nova Scotia.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 7.—The strike in the Pictou collieries is assuming a more serious aspect and the scarcity of coal is interfering more and more each day with local manufacturers. The workmen in three mines have been out for several weeks and it is reported that the Drummond colliery will stop work on Monday. A conference was held between a committee of miners and Mauger Boole, but no satisfactory agreement was reached. The price of coal is rising rapidly. Sydney now sells for $1 per chaldron higher than a week ago.

Knights of Labor Jubilant.

QUEBEC, March 7.—The Knights of Labor here are jubilant over the position taken by Cardinal Gibbons in the propaganda, and say that the mandatum issued by Cardinal Taschereau will be withdrawn on his return, as it is stated on the best authority that his eminence, before leaving for Rome, said that he would not offer any serious opposition in the consistory, and would be only too happy to make it known should it be favorably passed before the council.

Loss to the Shoe Industry.

BOSTON, March 7.—The Advertiser, in answer to the question: "What has been the loss to the Massachusetts shoe industry by the removal of factories that have been driven away by the action of strikers?" says that it can be accurately shown and proven that the annual product of these factories is now $9,425,000 and their total products since they were removed has been nearly $42,500,000.

Ingrain Carpet Weavers.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—The lower loom ingrain carpet weavers have demanded an additional one cent per yard for weaving. The manufacturers say they cannot pay it, and it is expected that on Monday over three thousand weavers will quit work.

COHOES, N. Y., March 7.—Cotton mills operatives here, numbering 5,000, have, through a committee requested of the Harmony Mills company an increase of from 10 to 20 per cent. in wages.

After the first call the market lapsed into a listless state and continued up to noon when on publication of the bank statement, showing a reduction in the reserves of over two million and a quarter, there was a pressure to sell under which the advance was lost.
